Why is this product dangerous?

The strap running in front of the ear may slide backward, which could affect the stability and optimal hold of the helmet on the head during normal use.
This creates a risk for the user because head protection is no longer fully guaranteed in the event of a fall or impact.

- Please stop using this product immediately.
- Return the product to your nearest DECATHLON store.

Remedies available to consumers

- The returned product will be refunded at its original purchase value.
