We ask that you not use the product anymore

As part of our quality processes, Kiprun's team has identified a potential risk: the battery could overheat and may cause burns and/or possible start of fire during charging and/or in use.

We don't want to take any risks when it comes to the safety of our users and we have decided to recall all of our products.

As a precaution, we invite you to return your product to the nearest store for a refund.

Our help center is available and is at your disposal to answer any questions via LiveChat :
